Comments: Reduction in the number of councillors would seem an obvious way to reduce council costs but I feel that this would have to be balanced by representation. We are lucky in our division of Farnham that our local county councillor is very active and approachable and too large an area of responsibility would lose some of her ability to cover the local issues adequately. Even so it would be possible to have two people representing the area and not three.

Not much help I'm afraid but certainly although at Borough and maybe Town Council level there are obviously far too many councillors the case for Surrey County Council is less clear.
