Dear Sirs,

ELECTORAL REVIEW OF SURREY

I understand that currently Surrey has 80 County Councillors each representing approximately 10,500 electors, which appears to fall in line with your own requirements. There is one minor local exception where there is an imbalance of about 220 electors but I understand that this is already being addressed by adjusting the boundary line.

I believe that the above comments are accurate and it would therefore appear that there is little need for change.

Alan Gavaghan.

Chairman.
