Comment text:

Resident in Weddington most of my 67 years, I have obviously seen great change in Nuneaton and Weddington in particular. St Nicolas Park Estate was not even built, nor housing north of Glenfield Avenue when I was young. Weddington has become more densely populated. Looking at the latest developments and predicted numbers of households, I wonder if it might be sensible to use Higham Lane as the boundary? I have always considered Ambleside and Ferndale to be more of 'St Nicolas' in terms of when built and geographically.
