The proposed boundaries for the Old Town make no sense. People who live in the rezoned area east of the high street have no affinity with Pin Green. They are established older homes that formed part of the Old Town and as such residents are using the high street itself probably more than those living West or South of the high street. The new town and old town have completely different needs and requirements from councillors and hence having a single councillor covering that area is wrong. The areas all need to be renamed appropriately.
