I agree with the majority of the proposed ideas. I live in Shephall but i'm not sure if extending it all the way to the other side of the lakes is the best option. Perhaps to after the first main lake would be far enough of a stretch, or perhaps moving it to Chells or Bedwell would make more sense - it just seems a little too far out to extend that far. Also where you have that tiny patch of roads for Chells Manor up by Martin's wood seems a little cut off; either you could make the gap wider or just have that as Martin's wood as it backs the allotments of Martin's Wood anyway. It seems having the small patch after the roundabout a bit silly to separate it out. The old town looks quite small in your new proposal but i agree with the starting point of by the station. I haven't even heard of Woodfield so can't comment on that!
