Comment text:

As A current Councillor and former County Councillor these are my personal views: Currently at 147 members there are too many members and it clearly doesn't work. The Council have put together a report recommending 120 Councillors which I also believe to be too many. The original County Council proposals for 98 based on two member wards would be workable and would only mean minor boundary changes in most wards. I favour 80 members with a mix of one and two member wards. I think that this would deliver for the Community and enable a fairer spread of the workload between members.
