Comment text:

I am responding on behalf of the 6 Councillors that represent Arboretum Ward (Cllrs Shiraz Khan, Gulfraz Nawas, Fareed Hussain) and Normanton Ward (Hardyal Dhindsa, Balbir Sandhu, Jangir Khan). Our submission in the form of a letter is uploaded as a document. This supports you draft proposal for Normanton and Arboretum Wards new boundaries - apart from the boundary between Arboretum and Normanton which places Arboretum School and the adjoining streets in Normanton Ward. We respectfully suggest that Arboretum School and the streets mentioned in our letter are placed in Arboretum and the boundary to be to Peartree Road going north on Dairyhouse and onto Holcombe Street.

To whom it may concern,

KEEPING Arboretum Ward's identity and interest intact

As local Cllrs we mostly support the proposed three-member Ward Boundaries for Arboretum and Normanton, especially the reunification of Normanton Ward in the South-West - with all of Porter Road, Clarence Road and adjoining streets east of St Chads Road and Carlton Road and north of Warwick Avenue being unified in Normanton as one community.

However not including Arboretum School and the adjoining streets east of the school in Arboretum does not, in our opinion, keep the 'identity and interest' of the community intact. Feedback, from local residents living in the area support this view.

The draft proposal puts Richmond Road, Yate Street, Becher Street in Normanton. For twenty years they have been an integral part of the Arboretum community. We would propose using Peartree Road, the previous boundary between Normanton and Arboretum, being re-established up to Dairyhouse Road and going north on Dairyhouse Road to Holcombe Street as the boundary between the two wards. This enables all of Rutland Street, Peartree Street and majority of the old residential parts of Harrington Street to be in one ward (Normanton), whilst not losing the links and identity felt by local residents to Arboretum – with Arboretum Park as the focal point. Surely Arboretum School and it's community should be in Arboretum.

Yours sincerely

Hardyal Dhindsa, Balbir Sandhu, Jangir Khan – Cllrs for Normanton Ward;

Shiraz Khan, Fareed Hussain, Gulfraz Nawas – Cllrs for Arboretum Ward
