I have long thought that at least one of the three levels of local government should be removed. I do not understand why we need county council, district council and parish council, it seems that where we live no one at parish council level has any interest in us other than revenue raising (a new councillor admitted to my wife some time ago that she didn't know we were part of Ripple) Therefore any reduction in council numbers is a good thing and indeed I would take it further and say an entire level should be removed.
