I am very concerned to note the disparity in the numbers of both current and forecast electorate in the current wards. Your data show that electorate numbers in such wards as Broadheath, Longford, Altrincham, Clifford and Gorse Hill, are markedly higher than those in the (largely Conservative) wards of Bowdon, Hale Central and Hale Barns. This looks like an enormous inbuilt bias in favour of the Conservative Political Party. This disparity must be addressed. PS: I have been a Trafford resident for most of my life (including the last 20 years), but I am temporarily living out of the borough until I can buy another house in Trafford.
