They just want to water down another no go area in Wolverhampton. As soon as your area becomes Blakenhall house prices will plummet. There aren't any particularly good areas in Wolverhampton anymore. I mean would you really by choice walk through Heath Town or Witmore reigns at night because I certainly would not. The town centre has got to be the worst I've seen in the country. I'm ashamed to say I come from there. The Council has a lot to answer to. Once a half decent town has now been taken over by immigration and post code gangs. Any one with any money has moved else where so I doubt they will ever turn it around now, I'm sad to say. Leave Penn as it is before that is turned into yet another no go area that no one wants to live.
