I have read the Boundary Commission proposals for Bolton and in particular my own ward of Astley Bridge and would like to make known my objections ideas that have been put forward. Astley Bridge is a community, with its own local identity and a strong connection between residents across the area. We take pride in the area and this can be seen across the ward with artwork from local schools on display, we have the wonderful flower troughs and a number of local events that take place through the year. This strong local identity and sense of community is a product of history, the area forming from the village of Astley Bridge into the community we enjoy today. Over the years, local residents have joined together to form a number of community groups, such as the Friends of Astley Bridge and this has only strengthened the bonds that bring the community together. These groups organise Remembrance Day and hold a large Christmas lights switch on at Andrew Lane park each year which is very well attended! It is a concern to myself and other residents that the park at Andrew Lane it to be removed from the ward under the current proposals and moved into South Turton, which already has a large number of parks. We are one community and share a local identity in Astley Bridge and therefore these proposals should be reconsidered so as not to divide a community.
