I am a resident in [REDACTED]. The proposed change to the boundary to separate from Urmston would undermine the fact that the area has a strong historical link to Urmston - much more so than Stretford. As such, many of the community groups and activities which are available and are participated in by residents are linked to Urmston. The community interests and identity of the area are therefore much more closely aligned with Urmston than Stretford. The area is also geographically closer to the centre of Urmston (and the facilities there) than the centre of Stretford. Whilst the M60 creates a geographical boundary in some sense, in reality there are multiple routes under (including those accessible by pedestrians) which are used by residents every day.
