It's disappointing to see the suggestion that a tiny part of Osmaston has not been included in the new proposed Osmaston, Crewton & Wilmorton Ward despite it needing to be included. I know this area well as I have lived here since 2009. It is its own community and has no relationship with Sinfin; it is closer to Alvaston and Boulton (the Allenton area of Derby) than it is to Sinfin. Bus links are non-existent between Osmaston and Sinfin, people in Osmaston don't tend to shop in Sinfin, residents can go to Allenton to the market or smaller shops there, to the small row of shops on Elton Road, or to the supermarkets in Osmaston or Normanton (Sainsburys and Lidl). There are significant boundaries between the small section of Osmaston (Osmaston Park Road, Victory Road, Elmtree Avenue, Oaktree Avenue, Ashtree Avenue) that is being suggested to be tied to Sinfin of a golf course, Rolls Royce, a waste treatment centre, a retail complex and a railway line between the two. Further, I am concerned that if this section of Osmaston is tied to Sinfin that it would be a long walk for the residents of this small section of Osmaston to get to the nearest polling station, reducing the likelihood of residents turning out to vote it's already difficult encouraging my neighbours to vote without adding more obstacles. I don't understand why you would suggest splitting off the around 320 houses south of Osmaston Park Road from the rest of Osmaston. Also, can there not be a better name than just listing all the areas? For anyone who considers themselves living in Allenton won't be represented by the suggested name.
