I would agree that the derwent ward is very big and an introduction of a breadsill hill top ward would be beneficial proberbly spreading from north of Hampshire road and Hereford road boardering with St. Andrews view being the border at the east side, as it has long been known as this locally. The remAining part of derwent ward should either still be called derwent or Chaddesden west with its border being along Chaddesden park road i also do not believe Oakwood which is a new area should include parts of the current Chaddesden ward especially to include the the schools cavendish close and Lees Brook schools which have always been the Chaddesden area catchment schools
