The Osmaston triangle is situated between Osmaston Park Rd, Osmaston Rd, and Elton Rd, it also includes the Victory Rd Estate which is bisected from the "triangle" by Osmaston Park Rd. Historically The Victory Rd Estate, which was built in the 1920's has always been considered as part of Osmaston due to the fact that Victory Rd ended at the Rolls-Royce factory which later housed the "Oil Engine Division". This of course was when Moorways Lane was a cart track, and Wilmore Rd was not even thought of, in short, Victory Rd terminated into "open countryside", and has always been part of the Osmaston estate from when the Council bought the land from the trustees of the Rev Wilmot-Horton.
