A previous consultation exercise, that I responded to, proposed political alignment of our community with Redditch.. Which was even more ludicrous in my opinion. Now it appears we are to be aligned to Droitwich Spa presumably on a population numbers alignment to share councillor workloads? I cannot believe it is for alignment of communities and their services or problem solving through Councils and/or Emergency Services. Having knowledge of the emergency services I understand where issues drop between councils/services or receive less priority action as a consequence of not being at the forefront of prioritised local issues. Our communities are in my opinion, linked to Evesham. (Our address is situated in postal address Harvington, Evesham). Our local police who work in partnership with councils are based in Evesham. Our councillor needs to be identifiable with, and to, our local community too. At first sight it appears to me that our community has been devalued and on two occasions, proposed to be moved either to Redditch or now Droitwich Spa, politically. This change should not be implemented and the status quo should be maintained.
