I'm in total agreement for Croxteth park estate to become it's own ward with one councillor. Under the current Croxteth ward it's as though Croxterh Park is non existent with a disgraced ward councillor that has been kicked out the labour party, a Labour Councillor that jumped out if the tuebrook ward & the third councillor who lives on Croxteth park but who has little interest in Croxteth park estate as his birth home is Croxteth so his allegiances reside with Croxteth & not Croxteth park. The thing that can happen is for as many as possible single ward councils across the city as the political games have got to stop. A one ward councillor will be accountable for their ward whereas the current boundary allows councillors to point the finger at one another.
