Comment text:

I have lived in Patcham, which is a VILLAGE in its own right, for in excess of 35 years. I have never considered that we have anything to do with Withdean, and indeed the A23 forms a logical boundary between the two wards. To the east, Ditchling Road is also a logical boundary. Patcham Senior and Junior School are at present both in the centre of the ward and this proposal would see them on the eastern boundary line; this makes no sense. The consultation process for this redrawing of the boundaries has not been sufficiently widely or loudly advertised. Moreover, a change of this type should be a decision voted on by the constituents. I am totally opposed to this boundary change.
