To collaborate hollingbury and patcham is not a good idea. To get our children to patcham school from say mackie avenue means we need to be in the catchment area and if they are combined then our children will end up being in carden school because as the crow flies it's closer but to walk or scoot for example it's very difficult with lots of hills/steps and with a buggy with a small child in is near impossible. Also house prices will go down in patcham as it is proposed. I totally object so keep patcham as it is.
