I strongly object to the proposals relating to new boundary for Hollingbury and Carden, please note my comments. Patcham – proposal for Hollingbury & Carden When the properties in Ladies Mile Road, Vale Avenue and all the roads off Mackie Avenue were built in the 1930s they formed an estate around the Clock Tower in Patcham. These roads are an integral part of the community of Patcham and to put these into a new boundary called Hollingbury and Carden Avenue would remove them from the local community which they are at the heart of and to which families are strongly connected. Patcham is a close-knit community which encompasses the Old Village, Vale Avenue, Ladies Mile Road, Mackie Avenue and all the roads between connecting to both London Road and Carden Avenue. This area together with the schools and churches has very much a village atmosphere with a very caring community. To split this up by removing numerous roads and creating a 'Hollingbury and Carden' boundary instead would destroy the structure and unity of the whole of Patcham. Patcham has infant, junior and senior schools which under the new proposal would fall within the Westdene and Patcham boundary. With the new boundary the properties off Mackie Avenue would come under Hollingbury and Carden. Hollingbury has one an infant/junior school in Carden Avenue. What effect will these changes have on the catchment areas for the junior schools for the current Patcham residents off Mackie Avenue? This issue needs careful consideration. All these issues will break up the cohesion of a popular and caring community.
