Comment text:

I am unhappy with the proposed change in boundaries. I moved to Patcham two years ago and am happy to remain in the area I chose to live in. I feel that to be categorised as Hollingbury and Carden implies that I live further away from Patcham amenities when Patcham school is only one road away? It makes sense that the boundary of Patcham would be the A23 and not include Westdean? I feel it is unfair for home owners who have chosen their residential area to have it recategorised and for this information to not be more widely publicised, I have been informed by my local Neighbourhood watch but feel a letter should have been sent out to all affected homes/residents to be able to give their opinion. I don't think this has been undertaken in an open and responsible way.
