Comment text:

I am extremely concerned about the proposed Patcham boundary change. People not directly affected by the change will assume complaints are due solely to post code snobbery, this may well be true but with good reason for concern. At some future point the implications of becoming Hollingbury and Carden rather than Patcham will have negative implications on the cost of most insurances whether it be House, Contents, Life, Motor or whatever. Catchment areas for schools etc will affected. I can see no benefits resulting from the change other than simplifying the electoral wards regarding population.
