The map of the proposals is very hard to access and to understand and from what I can ascertain it is going to split up Patcham which is in my view a poor decision. I live in the part of Patcham which is going to be part of Hollingbury and Carden and so any matters relating to my part of Patcham could mitigate against Patcham as a whole as Councillors will also have to represent the interests of two other areas (ie Hollingbury and Carden) It would have been a much better and more democratic to send out details to every home and ask residents to vote on these proposals.
