Comment text:

I believe the Patcham and Hollingbury divide should run along the length of Carden Avenue, up Portfield and then up the remainder of Ladies Mile Road. This divide would represent the communities better. Families living on or off of Mackie Avenue tend to attend events, groups and use the businesses within Patcham due to access through bus routes, driving routes and easy walking access. Children attend pre school groups within the same community too hence many families who are allocated Carden Primary appealing the decision. Their support networks and community associations residing in Patcham.
