Comment text:

I object to the revised boundaries that affect the village of Patcham. The identity of this village will be lost forever and the councillors for Patcham have worked so hard to make this a worthy area to live in. Dividing it between Westdene and Carden will lose its heritage. People choose to live here because of it's village history and at all costs it should remain. There has been very little publicity to encourage us to respond which speaks us out of any meaningful considerations. Patcham has hundreds of years of history and the name and it's heritage must be preserved at all costs. Nothing can replace our history.
