I have no objection to the proposed boundaries in Evesham which seem an acceptable compromise between a number-crunching exercise and a wish to foster some common identity. I live in the "Hamptons" ward and was one of the three Wychavon councillors in the old ward of Great and Little Hampton when I was first elected in 1994. The proposed ward, while slightly smaller in terms of voters to the original, whole-parish 1994 division, does have an acceptable community identity and a cross-section of housing types. As the proposed ward is not co-extensive with the parish of Hampton and therefore with the more deeply-felt, centuries-old divisions into Great and Little Hampton, I think to prevent possible partisan rancour and to emphasise an new beginning, it should be called Evesham West....because the "Hamptons" it is not.
