I believe that the current divisions and parishes are working very well and should not be disturbed. The impact of changing divisions will just cause more unrest in a time where there has already been so much prolonged unrest. The unnecessary changes may have a detrimental impact on those that are already struggling with their mental health after the pandemic. The Bishop of Stafford even mentioned the prolonged unrest in a midnight mass service where he spoke of the so called Perma crisis. We don't need more uncertainty right now. We need stability and assurance.
