Related subject: New Hartley (Hartley Ward, Seaton Valley Parish Council))

New Hartley is a small village with distinct borders and local councillors who work together in support of the community. To divide such a small community between 2 wards is a total nonsense! Especially as it will take the northern part of the village into Blyth Valley. The village has links with other villages in Seaton Valley - for education, medical services, churches etc. - but none with Blyth. In resolving your 'numbers game' I ask you to reconsider splitting our small village. Communities are more important than numbers.
