I appreciate the need to look at boundaries and realise it is not an easy job. However, the wards need to take into account natural boundaries and make sure whole areas of the District are represented fairly.

The new wards do not take into account the natural geographic boundaries - taking Stafford Rd out of the Valley and putting it with the Hill is crazy - they are different communities. Stafford Rd is part of the Valley and use the Valley facilities.

Secondly, the Valley ward is much too big, even with Stafford Rd taken out, which means the Valley is completely under represented at the local council. The same applies to Whyteleafe, Chaldon and other wards in the north of the district. This means the north is under represented at the council and therefore is always 2nd best at council meetings.
