I have been a resident of Hinchley Wood for over 22 years. I oppose the changes proposed in the second consultation to Surrey divisional boundaries, as they impact my community. The current arrangement where Hinchley Wood is grouped with Claygate and Oxshott, works well and I do not see any substantive reason in the new proposal to change this.

Surrey County Council seem to agree given that they proposed some very minor changes in their initial submission to the review. The proposals contained in the second consultation seem to be based on the Liberal Democrats response to the initial Elmbridge consultation? It makes no sense to me that any one political party should determine such changes - particularly when those changes are neither supported by the local electorate nor offer any benefit to the local communities.

I ask the Commission to reject these proposals to changing the Hinchley Wood boundary and revert to the proposals in the initial divisional boundary consultation that were supported by Surrey County Council.
