Related subject: Elmbridge, specifically Oxshott

I find it baseless and irresponsible to break up Oxshott and essentially divide it over two neighboring regions and in the process remove the name Oxshott altogether. This harms our Oxshott community spirit, identity and interests. Other than statistician's dreams about equal sizes and government guidelines, nothing is served by carving up a community. It needs to keep its integrity and, as a whole, integrate itself, with name and all, with either Claygate & Esher (as at present) or alterbatively, with Cobham
