LGBCE

Dear Sirs

I reject the recommendations of the LGBCE regarding the proposed boundary changes for Oxshott. Oxshott is a close knit community of 5000+souls. It is well defined village with its own High Street, Medical Centre, Station and Schools etc.

To split Oxshott into two parts by the arbitrary drawing of a line on a main road makes no sense by any measure let alone mathematical neatness.

How can the destruction of a existing community identity benefit any of the residents?

Why on earth are you trying to destroy a well defined community?

In my view you should retain the existing boundary arrangements and not waste effort, and probably cost, in making undesirable changes.

Yours,
