Related subject: Oxshott

I strongly disagree that the village of Oxshott should effectively be placed in two different areas. An arbitrary boundary along the A244 and putting opposite sides of the Village High Street seems ill considered as also the Royal Kent and Danes Hill schools which serve the village area being separated from half the village; this inevitably means issues affecting Oxshott being considered / dealt with twice which is wasteful of time and also redolent with the potential for conflicting outcomes.
