Oxshott is a village with significant and well defined identity. The community involved in the area are passionate, committed and active, and redrawing boundaries to remove oxshott would carry significant unintended consistencies. The oxshott community are typically wealthy, and organised, and they actively support charity, cultural initiatives and social goals. Diluting the community by removing the area name perhaps serves some benefit to simplifying naming conventions, but will have negative consequences of far more significant impact on people way beyond the oxshott boundary.
