- Carterton is not well-served in the current divisions or new proposals by being split into three parts and attached to large rural divisions with very different concerns. Additionally, Brize Norton is keen to remain distinct from Carterton (although we understand that development is planned on land in Brize Norton parish which will effectively form part of Carterton). We would propose not creating a 'Brize Norton and Carterton East' division but instead putting Brize Norton back with Burford and creating a new 'Carterton North' division made up of Carterton North East and Carterton North West wards joined together.
- Ramsden as a community does not have a connection with Burford. It would make more sense if this was placed in the Charlbury & Wychwood division.
- Any new houses that are built in the North Witney strategic development area (which under the new Local Plan are likely to be fewer than originally planned), while sitting in Hailey parish, should logically be part of the 'Witney North and East' division.

Best wishes,

Matthew Ledbury
