Related subject: Aston and Standlake

I find the separation of Aston and Standlake from Stanton Harcourt, Hardwick and Northmoor to be at odds with the make-up of the residents of aston, cote, standlake and the surrounding settlements. Having grown up and lived in Aston all my life, and having had family who live in Standlake. I would say there is more in common and greater community ties with Standlake, Stanton Harcourt, Hardwick and Northmoor than Aston, Standlake and Cote have in common with Carterton and parts of Bampton. I would keep the divisions much more similar to how they are currently for both aston, cote, standlake, stanton harcourt, harwick etc... And also for Bampton and its surrounding villages. If the electorate contained within the aston, stanlake, stanton, district is currently too large I would potentially say that it'd be better to move parts of South Leigh into the witney district closer to them due to greater connection between them and Witney than Aston and Carterton
