It makes no sense at all to split The Old Town in Beaconsfield - and the coming Wilton Park development - off from the remainder of our town. Together they form a community with a long heritage, which functions well and needs unified governance for decisions that impact the whole town's daily life. Over the past few years, the town has been very active in strengthening its sense of community and this would be undone by the proposed change in boundaries. The town is completely distinct from Gerrards Cross, shares little history, and can in some senses be seen as having rival interests. Please reject this proposal.
