The railway currently divides Wickford North from Wickford Castledon and Wickford Park. To equalise the size of the wards, Wickford North east of runwell road should become a Wickford North ward West of Runwell Road could become a part of Wickford Castledon. There is a pedestrian crossing at the station, and two road crossings of the railway line in this area. Therefore I don't think the railway line here needs to be hard border for the wards.
