Why does Galley Common include Whittleford and the Shires? The amount of housing development in Galley Common surely already makes this a large ward (in terms of houses) without additional areas being added in. An obvious boundary is the black track. Galley Common hardly benefits from Council support, other than agreeing to new housing. Making Galley Common it's actual area (and not include external ones) may help the Galley Common residents benefit more from their local village and common.
