I think Heath Hayes should be separate from Wimblebury and have its own ward and Parish rather than being grouped into other villages. This will give it more opportunities to be supported by local funding and betterment. Often its lumped in with Cannock or Norton Canes. Although it has grown considerably it is still a village and village life should be reflected with those within it. often Heath Hayes is ignored in postal searches Id like to see it advance into more of a village community than just an after thought of the other places surrounding it. When I was growing up each village had its own identity, sadly this has been disappearing with the added housing estates and lack of amenities, I remember the park being better looked after and with public toilets at the entrance, it needs pavements and roads re surfacing and widening for disabled folk. As an ambulatory wheelchair user making it more user friendly would be great, tree planting etc.,,most shops on the high street have no accessible entrances. Would making it a separate Ward lend the area to getting better funding for improvements?
