Comment text:

Places near to the centre of the town should have priority to stay in the town, moving St Paul's in particular (when it even has part of the high street in it's boundary) is nonsensical. Do we want to end up with the very obviously politically motivated boundaries such as America? Please draw up a map of how Cheltenham would look losing St Pauls and you will see how ridiculous this all is. You would be taking the heart of Cheltenham out and I don't think the people of Cheltenham would forgive you.
