I don't understand why the Crowthorne ward doesn't actually include a good proportion of Crowthorne. The alignment of the boundary between Bracknell Forest and Wokingham has never made sense. Why does it not follow Nine Mile Ride until the train line, and then run along the train line? This would then actually include most of Crowthorne in the Crowthorne ward. The ward/unitary boundary makes even less sense when you consider that people that are in Crowthorne, but the Wokingham council part of it, are still represented by the Bracknell MP not the Wokingham MP!
