Comment text:

I am a resident in the Parish of Linton. We are part of Coxheath and Hunton ward. Linton is totally ignored by the ward councillors, who spend all of their time dealing with Coxheath. We are not even mentioned in the ward title!! Despite being more than twice the size of Coxheath. The concerns of Coxheath, which is a populous, built-up, urban location, are completely different from rural communities such as Linton and Hunton. I recommend that Coxheath, which has seen very significant population growth, should be a ward on its own. Linton should be combined with Loose, which has similar structure and concerns. Hunton should be combined with Yalding. Marden, which has also seen very considerable population growth, should be a ward on its own. It is fundamentally wrong that urban areas such as Coxheath should be linked to rural communities such as Linton. Because we have more area but fewer voters, our concerns are never understood, addressed or dealt with. Whatever changes you make, please do at least give Linton the grace of inclusion in the Ward title. With best wishes [REDACTED]
