Their should be less councillors. The boundary lines are wrong and unjust. Normanton boundary lines has massively widened over the years to include areas it never included before, such as SunnyHill area, Underhill Avenue, which is an area of it's own, if not Part of Sinfin. Foresters Park is wholly part of Sinfin. Arboretum has widened massively to unjust include parts of Alvaston. Every area is over-run with frontmen councillors that do not represent the values of the whole area, and little to no work unless helping their own communities. Derby still has less representation of British -Black, White, Jamaican, African, Chinese, UK born councillors advocating for shared equalities, shared innovation and shared communities. Their is an unfair and distinct lack of Jamaican and African, British businesses and/or councillors.
