Sir/Madam

As a long term resident of Trafford with my local area of residence being Partington, I am writing to express my concern at the proposed boundary changes to the Bucklow St Martins Ward. Whilst logically and geographically you would be lead to believe that this makes complete sense, if you look at the communities in each local area and the histories they couldn't be more different. Dunham and Warburton are both farming villages, historically their communities are similar but their community are more similar to those with the postcode WA. Partington is completely different, it is a small but proud place which has many different needs socially and economically, Partington has communities very similar to the likes of sale west and carrington.

The socioeconomic status of the people in Partington compared to those in Dunham are polar opposites and it would be completely unfair on either communities to lump them together because geographically they are close together.
