I wish to object to the reorganisation which moves the parishes of Warburton and Dunham to join with Paddington and Carrington. These areas are fundamentally different in character in terms of population density and industry. Warburton is a rural parish where the main industry is farming. It primarily looks to Altrincham and to Lymm for services such as education, medical and shopping. A factor reflected in public transport which is not available between Warburton and Partington. The sizes of the voting electorate would be substantially in favour of Partington/ Carrington to the extent Warburton would be excluded from any local democratic processes. Equally by changing Warburton into a different Parliamentary Constituency it would be a pimple of rural life with no significant electorate and as such would be ignored. In conclusion these changes would ruin the area to the extent that Warburton/Dunham would cease to exist as a political entity and have any local character removed.
