Dears Sir/Madam Dunham Massey has many ties with Bowdon and Altrincham centre. People in the village attend school, the church, work and shop in this area. In 2003 there was a consultation to change our ward boundary. This was opposed locally and the Commission agreed with that position. Since that time Dunham Massey has remained the same, the village is protected by a conservation area and the National Trust locally ensure that there are no new housing built and that only traditional farming industry can take place here. I believe that there is therefore no new evidence to support a change in boundary perimeters.
