I am writing in complaint of the scathing cuts to Flixton Ward. The introduction to Davyhulme of the Derwent Road estate is complete lunacy. It rips the heart out of the oldest village in the area. It was Fleaston in the Domesday Book. Flixton Cricket Club has been unceremoniously dumped in to Davyhulme and rips the heart out of the soul of our village. In my humble opinion the centre line of Moorside Road should be the boundary to Woodsend Circle and then the same centre line of Woodsend Road from the circle through to Irlam Road with the odd numbers of Woodsend Road, Bishop Road and the streets off it becoming Davyhulme Ward. At Irlam Road the centre line again to the ship canal is a good division of the wards. This will ensure less confusion for residents will offer the same numbers in ward all but a small discrepancy. Have the Boundary Officers no regard for the wishes of residents? A small consultation hidden away does not allow for proper consultation. The number of residents actually aware of the plans is minute, very few announcements by either the council or the Boundary Commission to publicise. It is neither a worth while nor wide ranging consultation and I for one want to remain in a ward I have lived in for 50 years. I would certainly ask that the plan is seriously reconsidered, and the heart of Flixton is kept intact.
