Keeping Oakwood whole is the right move, we'll never accept a split. The few roads to be moved to the Chad ward makes sense due to residents feelings regarding being a part of that community moreso than the Oakwood one. Morley road extension and including redrow is just common sense, good to see some councillors actually have it. Instead of Labour proposing boundary changes in order to attempt to cut/change the political votes, maybe they should be policy driven and actually stick to those policies. Being progressive doesn't always provide progression.
