Being born and bred in Wick and spending 50 years living in the village, putting Wick under the jurisdiction of Pershore would be very detrimental to the village. It needs to be represented by a Parish Council that understands the needs of local villagers and its community. The difference being Pershore is a town, and has different needs. We don't have shops that have a large retail outlet so I do not see how a local councillor for Pershore would best suit the interests of a sleepy little country village like Wick. Wick has lots of communal interests that the village supports, an example being the village games which we participate in with other villages in the local area. We have a local Wick club which the locals support fully. Wick is a thriving community with many community groups. We need to have somebody to represent us, especially with the upcoming mineral extraction licences that are ongoing, this is something we do have in common with Fladbury because of the South Worcestershire Mineral Extraction Plan showing Wick, Fladbury and Charlton being key areas for extraction. A representative from Pershore would not fight any issues that would be brought forward with these issues of abstraction licences. We are a village and want to stay a village, represented by our local community. Wick also has a conservation area.
